

"Do We Have Normative Powers?"

Can rational agents create reasons for action? That is, can we, simply through an act of will, endow a consideration with the normativity of a practical reason? In this paper, I suggest that we can.